BASEBALL CHATTER

The Capeway Little League All Star team won a big victory in the Greater New Bedford All Star Tournament when they downed a strong Fairhaven All Star team by a 4 to 2 score.

Loyal rooters from Marion, Rochester and Mattapoisett were treated to a fine pitching exhibition by Steve Cadieux who struck out nine batters and allowed but three hits. All the boys played very well on defense and Seabury Stanton delivered a timely double driv-

This victory is remarkable when you consider the fact that we have only six teams to draw players from and the population difference in our area compared to the larger cities and towns.

The All Star team will now play Dartmouth at 2:00 P.M. next Saturday at Lawler field in the north end of New Bedford. This field is located at the junction of Nausett Street and Mt. Pleasant.

The All Star team is made up of the following: Scott Hinchcliff and Victor Meservey of Rochester; James Rose, Christopher Lopes, John Silva, Lee Haywood, Seabury Stanton of Marion; Dwight Smith, Phillip LaFrance, Steven German, Michael Menezes, Steve Cadieux, Gary Gaspar, Jonathan DePina and David Haley of Mattapoisett with Gene Baspar bat boy. The team is managed by Anthony Guilherme with Peter Prewitt and Oliver LaFrance coaches.

Our thanks to the fans from the area towns who made the trip to see this game. It was nice to see so many familiar faces rooting the team on to victory.

THE MISUSE OF RELIGION

Last Sunday at St. Philip's Church in Mattapoisett, the Reverend Alexander D. Stewart pointed out four ways in which religion is frequently misused. Many people use their religion as a showpiece, a decoration; others as a tool of self-interest, thinking to themselves, "if you are religious, God will reward you." Some use it as an escape from reality, and a few justify their own desires for God's will.

How much better is a religion so sincere that it is apparent in the warmth of your heart! Rightly used, religion is the way to self-fulfillment. Happiness comes as a by-product of the Christian life. In forgetting yourself and selfish interests, life suddenly becomes worth living.

Did Cain escape the consequences of murdering his brother, or did Jesus escape the cross? Christians do not deny suffering or tragedy, but rather use it, transcend it.

Accepting God's will and changing your life to fit it is quite a different thing from doing your will and calling upon God to justify it.

Next Sunday at 8 A.M. the Reverend Stewart will celebrate Holy Communion. At 10 A.M. will be Morning Prayer and sermon. St. Philip's is right next to the Public Beach, and welcomes both summer residents and year round

WRECKED IN THE ARCTIC

by Charles H. Purrington

The 27th day of November, one of our crew froze his toes to the bone and nothing could be done for him. Our captain advised him to chop them off with a chisel.

The 3d of December, was my birthday. My breakfast consisted of a cup of coffee with a pinch of salt to give it flavor, and my dinner I found myself--some scraps boiled from blubber. I knew that, confined to this diet I would never see another birthday. The days were long, cold, dark and lonesome, nothing to do, reading the same papers over and over, seeing the same faces day after day, and no news from home or anywhere else. The captain never seemed to be discouraged. He went gunning about every day, but seldom met with success.

Christmas came at last, but no presents were made. All we could do was to wish each other a "Merry Christmas," and smile at the very idea of such a thing under the circumstances. Our captain said "Cheer up and be happy, the days will fly away after the holidays are over."

New Year's Eve we remained up until midnight, marched around the vessel, beating tin pans to usher in the new year with its fate for us, for destitute as we were, with no prospects ahead, in spite of all hope still remained. Thus ended the year 1884, with its hardships and suffering.

February dawned upon us--the coldest month in the year. The long nights we would sit by the stove in the forecastle and chew boot soles and drink seal oil to keep us alive.
